Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposal to replace the current 30mph default speed limit on restricted roads with a 20mph limit.

Fully Supportive

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposal to replace the current 30mph default speed limit on restricted roads with a 20mph limit.

Please explain the reasons for your response

Too many road deaths are caused by excessive speeds. Streets in cities must become places where people on foot and travelling by bike are given priority and a default, enforced 20mph limit is one part of the puzzle. I also believe uniformity across Scotland is important - at the moment the inconsistency across different areas is rather confusing.

Q2. Could the aims of this proposal be better delivered in another way (without a Bill in the Scottish Parliament)?

No

Please explain the reasons for your response

Uniformity across Scotland is important. This absolutely should be a decision made at Holyrood.

Q3. What do you think would be the main advantages, if any, of the proposal?

Fewer deaths and serious injuries on the roads. A move towards an environment where the car is no longer king in cities.

Q4. What do you think would be the main disadvantages, if any, of the proposal?

None.

Q5. What other measures do you think would be needed to maximise compliance with the new national 20mph speed limit on restricted roads, for example in relation to advertising signage and police enforcement.

Enforcement is important (but of course, existing 30mph limits are widely flouted). Those who drive their cars in dangerous and antisocial ways need to know there is a realistic chance of getting caught and seriously punished.
